Remote Work Policy

Employees may work remotely up to two days per week with manager approval. Remote work must not interfere with customer support, security obligations, or team meetings.

Interns should confirm remote work schedules with their supervisor before the start of each week. Managers may require in-office attendance for onboarding, training, or sensitive collaboration work.

Remote work equipment remains company property and must be returned at the end of employment or internship participation.

Paid Time Off and Attendance

Full-time employees accrue paid time off according to their employment agreement. Interns should report absences to their manager and internship coordinator as early as possible.

The company handbook does not define any lunch reimbursement policy. Reimbursement requests must be supported by a separate finance policy before approval.
